

CENTRAL VALLEY
SCHOLARS

$1000 FIRST GENERATION SCHOLARSHIP

INTRODUCTION

Here at Central Valley Scholars, we understand the obstacles and discriminations students who are the first in their families to go to college face in education systems. As advocates for first-generation students, we have created a First Generation Scholarship in the Central Valley as an initiative to give students with this identity the opportunity to share their stories. We want first-generation students in the Central Valley to understand that they are an important part of our community, and their voices should be heard. We are not looking for the student with the highest academic achievements, nor are we looking for students with impressive resumes; but rather, this scholarship was established to give students who are the first in their families to go to college the opportunity to share their experiences with their identities in the Central Valley. Use this scholarship to tell us your story, your struggles, and obstacles you have overcome in both education and your communities.

PRIVACY POLICY

We understand that some of the responses shared in this application may be very personal and something students do not want to be shared with others. We do not want this to be a barrier for applying to this scholarship; thus, your story, name, and identity will be kept completely confidential upon request. Your information will not be shared outside of Central Valley Scholars staff, and you are not obligated to share your identity on any of our media outlets. If you are a recipient of this scholarship and request confidentiality, we will send you the funds under "Central Valley Scholars Scholarship." For questions or concerns about our privacy policy, please visit centralvalleyscholars.org/termsandconditions.
